

FINALIST ♦ NURSING HOME/ASSISTED LIVING FACILITY OF THE YEAR

AristaCare at Cedar Oaks

Morris Wiesel, Administrator & Tina LaPelosa, Clinical Administrator
South Plainfield, Middlesex County

AristaCare at Cedar Oaks is the newest member of the AristaCare family, having joined in 2007.

The facility is quickly earning a reputation for cutting-edge healthcare in its role as a provider of subacute, post-acute, rehabilitation and long-term care.

Cedar Oaks is one of the few subacute centers in New Jersey to boast CARF accreditation for both its inpatient rehabilitation and stroke-recovery programs.

In addition, a unique "Recovery Lane," located in the rehab therapy room, simulates real-life activities to better prepare patients for discharge to home and community.

Beneath the innovation lies an individualized, caring approach that recognizes the tough decision families face in choosing the right environment for short- or long-term care.

Cedar Oaks strives to make every guest feel at home and, to that end, has established Indian and Jewish units that are dedicated to the needs of each culture. The dedication is reflected in everything from religious services and cultural activities to food and music.

The subacute unit, meanwhile, is in the final stages of a multi-million-dollar renovation. Once complete, the unit will boast flat-screen TVs, wireless Internet access and hotel-like accommodations.

The rehab area at AristaCare at Cedar Oaks stays busy.
